

STATE GAS WASTE EXHAUSTS SUPPLY

Mine Expert Talks on Saving Methods at State Session

CAMPAIGN IS PLANNED

Educational Methods Agreed Upon; Waste Is Estimated at $60,000 Daily

By Associated Press Staff Writer

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 19.—Domestic consumers of gas in Oklahoma are wasting it, and will toward the end of the month, due in a few cases at the present rate of consumption, according to Samuel E. Wyer, sent here by the United States bureau of mines to talk on gas conservation to the Oklahoma utilities convention in an address today.

Wyer said before next winter domestic consumers must stop wasting 10 per cent of the gas they are now receiving and paying for, by raising the burners on cooking stoves by within an inch of the very top, installing efficient types of heating units, turning gas on and off more made for room, using jackets on tank heaters and using no tank heaters of less than 75 per cent efficiency.

Low pressure is sufficient and usable under these conditions, Wyer said, and satisfactory service may be had from tanks at 10 cents a gallon at higher prices, and Oklahoma can under those conditions have gas for domestic use for 22 years more. He said that at the present rate of decline three-fourths of the gas companies in the United States will be insolvent within three years, and that extravagant use of gas has already extended to the states of Indiana, Ohio and northern Pennsylvania.

Wyer produced figures showing the daily waste of natural gas in the United States to be $1,000,000. The speaker said by adopting his suggestions housewives can actually make one cent of gas do the work three now are doing, and that most houses are still using gas inefficiently. He declared gas pressure of one ounce produces less than 2 per cent less heat than gas at four ounces.

An educational campaign through domestic science teachers is to be made in Oklahoma this summer with a view to teaching economic use of gas, Wyer said.

AMERICAN EXPRESS TO END

Dissolution to Follow Return of Railroads By Government.

Tulsa express officials are of the opinion that the American Express company will be continued indefinitely.

The American Express company was formed after the railroads went under government supervision. It is a merger of the American, United States, Wells Fargo and various northern companies. Under the American Express company the railroad rates were cut in half and has prospered while under the old system of competition of several companies, money was lost. The general view is that when the American Express company is finally dissolved that the business will be given to two or three companies instead of five or six as formerly.
